INTRODUCTION

The Astro Vision forecast report stands apart from other computer-generated horoscopes because the program performs a synthesis on all the aspects formed during the coming year before anything is printed. Not only are aspects formed by progressions and transits studied, but the birth chart is examined as well. This addresses an important astrological rule: that transits and progressions can only set off energies and opportunities inherent in the birth chart.

The computer report often uses very concrete terms and a direct style, predicting external events such as whether you are likely to get a new job during the coming year or not and these predictions are usually accurate 70-80 percent of the time. The reason for this is that psychological energies do not always express themselves in the most obvious or likely ways. For example, you might not actually get a new job, but instead you take on a completely new attitude toward your existing job or you might become very impatient and unsatisfied with your professional achievements.

The horoscope is divided into three parts. The first part includes mostly psychological information. The second part discusses the most important periods during the year, both favorable and difficult periods. The last part describes how the year will be seen from the perspective of a number of important areas of life.

The interpretation has been prepared for a one-year period, starting on the January 1, 2001. We hope you will enjoy reading your horoscope.

FIRST PART

A MEANINGFUL YEAR

The coming year is very important for you, judging from your horoscope. This is shown by a chart that shows several areas of life coming into focus all at once. This has to do with the following:

Romance. This means that you are likely to fall in love during the coming year. This could mean a renewed feeling for your current partner or it could mean someone new.

Foreign lands. Foreign countries could be important to you in the coming year. You might travel, meet someone from another culture or your work might be connected in some way to a foreign country.

PERSONAL GROWTH

The following is an area that you should work with since it will further your personal growth.

During the coming year you will have a lot of attention and focus on your relationships with others. This includes your friends and acquaintances, but also society in general. There can be some problems in these relationships that need to be addressed. Try to see where you have some responsibility for these problems rather than blaming others.

You will need to work hard in order to achieve your hopes and desires. You will feel an increased need for love and closeness.

PSYCHOLOGICAL FACTORS

The following describes some of the psychological trends and influences that will affect you during the coming year.

Identity and Self-Evaluation

This is a time when you will be making a lot of positive adjustments and bringing out more of the various sides of yourself. You find it easier to express your talents and achieve your goals and you can discover new resources. The year brings opportunities and can give you renewed self-confidence and a better feeling about yourself. To some degree you will be able to let go of some negative memories and release the energy that has been tied up.

Everything indicates that your sense of self is growing and you have greater insight into yourself, particularly the sides of yourself that are usually difficult to see. Because you can now view your less flattering sides without having your self-confidence crumble around you, you are able to look things in the eye and discover your hidden motives and patterns. You are also willing to cut out things that no longer serve your best interests.

You are making greater demands on yourself and your quality of life. You are not as easily satisfied by compromise. Your personal authority is much stronger and supported by your will power. If you tend to be a bit selfish, you may need to watch out that you don't come on too strong.

You are becoming better able to understand yourself in relation to men in general and perhaps a particular man, either a partner or someone you knew before. You feel more confident with men and trust them more and trust your own ability to get along with them.

Personal relationships

You are in a phase where you are changing the way you act. You need to transform your behavior patterns or you will have some problems.

You are looking for intensity in your actions and you have a lot inside that you want to express. You may feel that you are unsure of what you want or feel blocked in reaching your goals by external events. You will feel some stress about this and in a work situation, there will be a lot to do.

The pressure on you during the year could be a sign that you should change your strategy and begin to act in a new way.

There will be periods where you will feel tired, perhaps without being able to explain why, but this could be because of stress. You can feel down, exhausted and without much self-confidence. This will be most obvious around January 2001. If this should happen, it means that there is a lot to think about. If you, for example, have been thinking over a difficult decision for a couple of years, or if you have been making too many compromises or letting things slide, you might already have an explanation for what is draining your energy.

The year on the whole shows energy fluctuations. Sometimes you will have a lot of energy and a huge need to accomplish things and achieve goals. Other times, you will feel the need to let go, or feel you are being blocked or obstructed in getting where you want to go.

Whatever your plans are, you should expect periods where external resistance is great, but this can be overcome. These hindrances will irritate you more than usual and you will get to know new sides of yourself that are usually held in check. For a time you could feel that you don't even have any goals or know what you want and this, combined with a lot of energy, will make you feel restless. At other times, when your energy is low, you will feel very apathetic.

You need to accept that you can feel very insecure and unsure of yourself. Not all the time, but for short periods of time, a feeling of fear could rise up to the surface and make you a bit more edgy than usual. At the same time, you will be gaining insight into what it is that makes you afraid and the ways in which you feel unsure of yourself. Your sensitivity is increased, which is something you can use very constructively - for example to gain greater empathy for others. With other people you might be angry one minute and loving the next and you might have very ambivalent attitudes to people, which can cause some confusion.

Your sense of freedom will be affected. Perhaps you feel that you are not free enough and this leads you to some rebellion or the desire to go your own way. You should take care not to go to extremes. Around February 2001 these issues will be the strongest and this is a time when many unpredictable things could happen and you will feel restless.

Change

We will now list the changes that are able to take place as a result of the collected psychological influences. Your birth horoscope has also been taken into account.

You must also look at some of the less positive aspects of your sign, Sagittarius. You can be very impulsive and take over the stage. You are an honest person, but you enjoy exaggerating and making things seem bigger and more interesting than they are. You might have a slight addiction to attention and recognition, and you find it hard to focus when you go off in too many directions at once.

The changes can be about the fact that you are trying to avoid these qualities so they don't take over too much of your personality.

The coming year will affect the way you work and your daily routine seems to be changing in various ways. If you have a job, these changes might be in your working conditions or you might decide you want to change jobs or do something different. During the coming year you should exercise and practice good health habits and be aware of your body and its needs.

You will also change your home and way of living. This might mean that you move or make significant changes in your living arrangements. It could also mean that your relationships with family and close relatives are changing.

You will also change the way you express your creativity. You will find new ways to show the world what you can do and who you are. If you have children, it is likely that they will undergo significant changes during the year and this will tie into your own urge to express yourself.

You will also change your close relations with others. Your relationship, if you are involved with someone will change or your partner will change. For a time, this could feel like a crisis. If you are not involved at the time, you will begin to change your psychological needs, perhaps discover that you are looking for a different type partner than has attracted you in the past.

A change will take place regarding your relationship to work and the way you work. You will express yourself more through your job, but might be looking for a change because you are tired of doing what you are doing. You might change jobs or just your methods or attitudes about your work.

Self-confidence

The previously described psychological factors affect your self-confidence and this is how things will be during the coming year.

Unfortunately you can feel sometimes that your ego isn't stable. You can be nervous or worried but this will pass in time. You seem to be afraid of loss: loss of partner, job or the opportunities you have. When you feel or believe that you are about to lose you also lose some self-confidence and if you don't watch out this can accelerate. This fear of loss is at its strongest around January 2001.

PART II

PERIODS AND OPPORTUNITIES

This section describes a number of important periods during the coming year as shown in your horoscope. Every period has its particular influence. You should regard the following as a resume of the various energies that are at work in your horoscope. These energies will be included in other sections of the text but here they are discussed in their pure form. If a given month is named, the influence could start the month before or the month after.

From about the 31st of October, 2000 to about the 15th of December, 2001 you will often feel that you are acting irrationally in relation to what you want. Therefore, you should consider carefully what to do so you avoid situations that aren't good for you. You might have some destructive thoughts, perhaps about death or about other subjects considered taboo by society. You are your own worst enemy at this time, and so it is important that you keep your temper under control and watch out for your pride and the temptation to manipulate others. You might feel you are being stepped on, or that life is against you, and in fact, this isn't the easiest of times for you. Still, it is a natural process of growth that springs from deep within you and is not anyone else's fault. There are great opportunities for lasting change, if you work with, and not against this process.

You can learn to be more strong-willed and develop patience, perseverance and strength, but you mustn't get discouraged by the resistance that you will meet. A lot of things will irritate you, both at work and in your private life. You might feel you are being undervalued or rejected, and at the same time, feel pressured by a lot of demands. Take care not to become stressed. You will notice that you are more aggressive than usual and that there simply is a lot of aggression in the air. Make sure you don't become too suspicious, closed-minded, dogmatic, stubborn or provocative. In general, your energy will fluctuate during this time.

The time around June 2001 is generally fortunate and particularly for your self-confidence and faith in the future. You will have wind in your sails and something you want, and that is good for you will happen.

The time around August 2001 shows that you need to think more about your situation and where you stand, consider the past and evaluate it, but turn your sights toward the future. You can feel weak and with less energy than usual. You might feel a little bit depressed or down and have trouble mobilizing your usual level of motivation. During the times you are thinking about the future, you will feel more lively. There are probably some important decisions you need to make or some important tasks that require your total commitment. If you don't handle them, you will lose some self-respect.

Around September 2001 you should expect more difficulties than usual. You might have too much to do, too much work, or find it hard to follow through with your plans. There might be something in your past that you are having trouble letting go of. The more tenacious and patient you can be at this time, the better. Through hard, dedicated work you can lay the foundation for further growth. The period is very challenging as far as your work is concerned. You might find yourself having to work very hard and without receiving much recognition. Some people experience ups and downs in their sex lives during this period, perhaps because of inhibitions or feelings of guilt.

If you are in a relationship, you should expect there to be some problems during this period.

The time around May 2001 is generally fortunate and particularly for career, esteem, promotion and finances. It is a good time to look for work or seek recognition for your skills. It is a stabilizing and favorable time.

The time around September 2001 is generally fortunate and particularly for your emotions and love life. It is a good time to be open and dare to make contact with others.

The time around October 2001 is generally fortunate and particularly for studies, travel, communication and binding, written agreements, as long as you are realistic and use common sense. It is a good time for applications and for presenting yourself.

If there has been mentioned a month that is both fortunate and difficult, this isn't a mistake. It simply means there are a number of influences that each will pull in a particular directions.

THIRD PART

INTELLECT

This section deals with the influences and psychological aspects that affect your intellect. These influences will make themselves noticed in such areas as written communication, learning and studies.

Right now, you are very introspective and want to think quietly and analyze and evaluate. This might be extreme, where you have a tendency to worry over a problem more than is necessary. At other times, you might be asked to express your opinions or find yourself unable to refrain from doing so. People might think you are sticking your nose in their business.

If you are studying subjects that require a lot of analytical thinking, the year will be easier for you. If you study more "right-brain" related areas like art, for example, you might be frustrated and uninspired. You will really need to work at a subject to get a lot out of it.

During the coming year you can feel doubts about what others are saying or telling you. You will be critical, which comes because you need to find your own meaning in things. You have a great need to analyze and be alone in order to think things through. Others' lack of logic will irritate you because you yourself are very sharp. You gain greater insight into others' weaknesses and irrational sides.

IF YOU ARE A STUDENT:

Now is the time to do something about things. This year you will have to work because things will not happen as easily as usual. Having said that, your achievements will be particularly plentiful if you make the effort.

You face many large tasks and challenges in your studies. It is important that you don't give up because completion of your tasks will bring excellent results. You must accept that there will be some stress for a time. Don't become negative about your studies or it could lead to psychosomatic troubles. In your collaboration with others, you could be disappointed but should not let this knock you off course or become too proud or vulnerable. It is important to be open to what other people are saying. If you are studying logical, technical or scientific subjects, the year will be a little easier for you.

LOVE AND PARTNERSHIP

IF YOU HAVE A PARTNERSHIP:

There will be some ups and downs in your partnership this year. In general, it is a good year for relationships, so there will not be serious crises, but there will be times when you can't be together the way you usually are. You will be very honest, and this might come from some stress or stressful experiences together. You will be very vulnerable and not open to criticism. You are trying to find new ways of being together and can begin to see new aspects of each other.

You tend to be easily bored and need to take care that you don't demand too much excitement or entertainment. You should not allow your relationship to be the only thing that provides excitement for you. You should focus on other interests in order to take some of the pressure off your partnership.

In general, the year is very positive with respect to your relationship.

IF YOU DO NOT HAVE A PARTNERSHIP:

On the one hand, you still want your freedom, but on the other hand, you want the erotic stimulation and excitement that love brings. These can both be found in a relationship, but it takes time. Your feelings are very vital, but tend to swing a lot. You are very vulnerable and can seem more independent than you really are. This makes you radiate an attitude of not needing anybody, and makes it difficult for someone to get close to you. This might exclude anyone but the most ardent of conquerors. The relationship you start will be different from others you have experienced, and you might choose a different kind of person than those you have met in the past. The relationship can be very exciting and untraditional. As mentioned, you will fall in love and this is a good year for you to form a relationship. You will, however, need to be realistic. It is possible that you could meet a lover around January 2001 but there is some uncertainty about the time. For other possible meeting times see the section marked "Favorable Periods".

Sex life

This section concludes with an evaluation of your sex life during the coming year.

Your sex life is very satisfying, in so far as you have a partner, but it will always follow the indications shown in your birth horoscope. If you normally have an active sex life, then this will continue. If you are normally more restrained then you will continue with a toned-down form for sex.

CAREER AND ECONOMY

To achieve greater accuracy, we divide the following up into some rough occupational groupings, so you can see how the influences are most likely to affect your current career status. For this purpose, we use the following categories:

LEADER: By this we mean a job where you have employees working for you but you do not yourself own the firm. A foreman, manager, team-leader, etc.

SELF-EMPLOYED: You own the source of your income, whether it is a small shop or a large multi-national corporation. You can also read the section devoted to LEADER.

EMPLOYEE: You are a worker, office worker, service personnel where you receive a regular paycheck. You only have at most 1-3 people working under you, in which case you can read the section devoted to LEADER.

ARTIST: You are a musician, actor, writer, painter, designer, sculptor, dancer or have a work that is very creative and requires you to invent and use your imagination.

UNEMPLOYED: You are without work but attached to the work force where you are interested in finding work. If your work is f.ex. a housewife, read instead the section devoted to EMPLOYEE.

STUDENT: You are in the process of completing your secondary or advanced education.

There is a lot of focus on your work during the coming year. Something will be occupying your thoughts and you might take work home with you or think a lot about your job situation.

You are in a phase of your life where work and your position is very important to you. Your career is a subject you take very seriously, and this is good. You will need to work hard during the coming year to achieve all the results you hope for. By doing this, you are also sowing seeds for future growth and can build up a strong foundation. Status means more to you than usual and your ambitions will be more visible because you are now willing to recognize them.

The year will be full of both good and difficult periods. Your work will often be demanding and associated with a good deal of stress.

IF YOU ARE A LEADER:

There will be many unforeseen problems to solve. Your work requires a lot of flexibility and the ability for creative and original thinking. You will probably travel or have to be many places at the same time. You will need to make an effort to seem predictable so that others will know where they stand with you. Furthermore, there are some new aspects to your work. You should expect to have to deal with new kinds of tasks and for a time, you may not be able to rely on your experience to guide you. This situation will be very intense and the element of unpredictability means that it will be difficult for you to make plans at key periods during the next year.

IF YOU ARE SELF-EMPLOYED:

The year will include many ups and downs. There will be months of growth and months of recession. Flexibility and progressive thinking will be useful. Unfortunately, it will be hard for you to plan. The market is unpredictable. You want to make changes, but as long as you aren't clear about which way to go, you should refrain from doing anything. It will be a reasonably pleasant year, but you should expect not to be able to control developments. There will be times when you can feel restless or have trouble sleeping. During these times you should avoid going to extremes. It will not help you or your business.

IF YOU ARE EMPLOYED:

There will be a lot of disruption at your workplace. Your superiors will have trouble providing direction and there could be major changes in the organization. There will be times when you are tired of your current job or you want to do something completely different. You can switch jobs if you want to but you should not make a change simply because you are bored or restless. These are unstable times for you, so don't leave one job before securing a new one.

There will be times where you are very restless and full of doubts about what to do and what your future goals are. You should avoid acting from a position of panic. At the same time, this is a time when your work is unstable and it is important that you mobilize all your self-confidence, no matter what happens. There will be good times and difficult times for you during the year.

IF YOU ARE UNEMPLOYED:

You enjoy your time and when you get back to work it will happen suddenly. Perhaps you spontaneously find a job or something happens in a surprising way. You are looking for independent work where you can influence your surroundings. You don't want to be locked into a routine. There is much to indicate that your next job will be very different from what you have done before. It means a lot to you to have your freedom. Still, there will be many changes in your work situation before the year is over.

IF YOU ARE AN ARTIST:

The year will be an average one, with ups and downs. It is possible that you will be in demand for a while but have other periods without much to do. You will improve your artistic skills and be more free and open in your means of expression. External factors will bother you less, although you will sometimes feel that you can't get along with others. You will feel compelled to go your own way and develop faith in your strengths and unique talent. The year will have ups and downs, but be very interesting. You might expect some short-term work.

IF YOU ARE A STUDENT:

You might have a somewhat unstable job alongside your studies. Perhaps it is temporary or seasonal work or with flexible hours. Your dedication to your studies is also unstable and you might have trouble accepting the knowledge you are acquiring. It would be best if you can choose what you want to do and it is a good year for independent work. You should remain in close contact with your study advisors so you don't get off course.

You should expect some changes in your work and it is likely that by the end of the year you will have a new job or new work situation.

Although the year is an average one, you should not expect your results to simply happen. You will need to work and there are many challenges that you must address.

The individual months

Below is a graph that shows the extent to which your career is favored. Above is described how things will be for the year as a whole. The row with the most stars denotes the best month. The first horizontal row is for the period from January 1, 2001 and 30 days on, the next row is for the period 30 days on from the same date and so on.

Money

IF YOU ARE SELF-EMPLOYED:

You will have periods with a very difficult economic situation and it is likely you are bothered by old debts. If this is not the case, the year will still be a troublesome one. Your business is going well, but you have many expenses. There will be periods when things are reasonably comfortable, but in general, you should expect an average income and a rather tight situation. If last year was very difficult, this year will be slightly better.

IF YOU ARE EMPLOYED:

The year will bring a tight economy. There will be many unforeseen expenses, and you might have debts that put a strain on your budget. There will be times of hardship that you need to get through.

OTHER AREAS OF LIFE

Friendships and social activities

This is not the best year for friendships and social contacts. There could be many reasons for this. Perhaps you don't have time or there are other problems that occupy your mind so that you don't feel up to seeing many friends. Someone proud and assertive, probably a man you know, could cause problems or you could get into arguments with this person.

There might be arguments or even some hatred in your friendships. If and when this happens, it is important that you consider the consequences of harsh words and attacks. You might risk losing some friends, but you could also take a softer approach and tackle the problems that arise in a calm manner. If you are part of a club or group, or involved in political activity, you should expect some problems in this area.

Hobbies

You should not expect to have as much time for your hobbies and interests as usual. There might also be some kind of difficulties connected to these activities. This could be because you are too emotionally involved to relax and enjoy your activities, or you might find that others get in the way and prevent you from doing what you want. If you are involved in competitions of any kind, you can expect difficult challenges from others.

There will be a lot of focus on your work in the coming year, leaving you little time for hobbies or private life. You are likely to take work home with you, or at least spend time thinking about work.

Daily Life

As mentioned before, your work life will be more or less as it always is. The question is, how will your daily routine be?

You should pay attention to your daily life because now is a good time to add more structure so that you can find time for yourself, your work and your family. It is possible that you have established some unfortunate habits and now is a good time to break them. Perhaps there is something that is draining your energy or wasting your time, or some activity that is taking up too much time and from which you now can take a break.

Your daily life will include a number of unforeseen events. Your level of energy and inspiration will vary and you won't be as structured or disciplined as usual. Therefore your days will be different and full of variety.

There will be times where you are not satisfied with your routine, but this will lead you to structure your time in such a way that you make the most of the 24 hours available to you.

There will be a lot of focus on your work during the coming year and this will take up a lot of your time. You might take work home with you or at least spend a lot of time thinking about your job situation.

Psychology and Spirituality

The year will bring increased interest in occult phenomena or psychological subjects. What these two areas have in common is the desire to deal with the soul and investigate topics or energies that lie deep within you. It is a question of wanting to survive on a soul-level. In general, it is a good year to work with yourself and do something about the things you feel are bringing you problems or suffering. It is a good time to bring out these sides of yourself and work with that which stimulates you and gives you surplus and a sense of well-being.

About travel

It is difficult to predict whether a person is likely to travel, because many factors come into play, including economy, cultural background and interest. There are, however, many indications that suggest you will travel abroad, particularly if you travel every few years or so. If it has been ten years or more since you last took a long trip, the chances of you traveling now are of course not as high. Travel can also be an inner experience, where you discover other cultures by reading, studying, meeting different groups of people or expanding your mental or spiritual horizons in other ways. You will want to explore and investigate the culture you are visiting.

Home

There is much to indicate that you will move or at least make radical changes in the way you have organized your home.

You are not satisfied with your home. You should expect that your usual calm is not available at present. This dissatisfaction might tempt you to want to move. If this is the case, you should do something about your home - fix it up or renovate. If you own your own home, make sure your insurance is up to date. You could risk water damage or mildew. Your cellar is particularly vulnerable.

You want to open your home to others and will probably invite guests more often than usual. You enjoy creating a free atmosphere. You will enjoy your home and might want to improve it, possibly by buying new things for the home.

There is a lot of focus on your home, which means that this area is important to you.

CONCLUDING REMARKS

The above was an analysis of the various areas of life from a somewhat "fated" perspective. Here follows a supplementary discussion of certain aspects of the different areas showing the opportunities involved if you put a little effort into things.

Your ability to understand and read other people is increasing. You can understand their needs and generally develop more compassion and empathy. This will help your relationships with people and improve your artistic sensibilities. If you work with art, music or some other creative pursuit, or simply enjoy these kinds of things as hobbies, you will get a lot out of the year, provided that you work seriously with your abilities.

During the year, you are likely to be confronted with the results of your prior efforts, thoughts and desires. If there are areas of life that you have ignored or haven't been serious enough about, you will have difficulties. It is as if life will no longer allow you to be superficial, self-involved, apathetic or negative about these issues any longer. If you have built a strong foundation, you can expect things to be easier and to enjoy some happy events.

You are likely to be more emotional and sensitive than usual, but you could risk getting stuck in this to the point of being overly sentimental. If you have spiritual interests, this is a good time for you to focus on them.

This concludes the interpretation of your year's horoscope.
